Abstract: This article provides the legal basis and specific aspects of improving the welfare of the population in the process of democratic reforms.

Key words: democracy, population welfare, law, human interests, justice, population, education, cooperation, entrepreneurship.

A number of legislative initiatives have been presented in our country aimed at renewing and liberating the life of our country. They are aimed at raising the morale of the rising young generation, ensuring employment of the population, especially attracting young people to small businesses and private entrepreneurs, developing home economics and becoming an important institution of civil society in establishing local public control. Today, our country consistently strives to build a strong civil society in which people and their interests are at the center, as well as a democratic constitutional state.

The main focus is on safeguarding the economic and social rights and legal interests of citizens, the realization of every person's right to work, free choice of career, work under fair working conditions and protection against unemployment in accordance with the law. Nevertheless, strengthening efforts to safeguard human rights and interests, consistently promoting local laws and ultimately increasing the legal literacy of the population, as well as ensuring active public participation in this process, becomes a demand of the times. The main goal of the reforms carried out in our country in the legal, moral, social and economic spheres is to increase the well-being of the population by increasing the stable pace of economic development. The current phase of implemented economic reforms is characterized by the development of small businesses and private entrepreneurs, giving them great economic freedom. The implementation of such tasks has become one of the priority tasks of economic reforms and our main goal in safeguarding human interests.

It is known that in our country economic stability is achieved by paying special attention to the modernization of production, technical and technological modernization, small and private entrepreneurship, the development of the service industry and agriculture. Active measures in this area improve the level of employment, income and well-being of the population. It should be noted that financial institutions that organize their activities in a modern way have a special role.

On the basis of the Law of the Republic of Uzbekistan "On Employment of the Population" and a number of legal documents adopted in this area, employers who have created new jobs to ensure the employment of the able-bodied population are supported by the state, that is, they are Incentives created in tax, credit and other matters, new jobs are created every year for able-bodied people to ensure the employment of the population.

With regard to ensuring the employment of the population, the main tasks can be determined, namely the organization of paid public works, the production of the population in need of work and the development of social infrastructure, the construction of roads, employment in the improvement of settlements, vocational training, retraining and Retraining. Training in professions that allow them to be employed in new jobs if they cannot find work in their fields on the labor market, thereby ensuring the labor rights and freedoms of workers, with particular reference to the prevention of unjustified collective dismissals, the Labor Code of the Republic of Uzbekistan, on the basis of the decrees and decisions of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan and the Cabinet of Ministers on the regulation of labor activity, the introduction of control over labor legislation, the creation of opportunities for electronic exchange of information and the wide use of the options for updating the electronic database through open ones must be established jobs and job seekers, as well as greater attention to population groups competing in the labor market, etc.

To ensure this, it is necessary to ensure the implementation of a number of laws of the Republic of Uzbekistan and the decisions of the Cabinet of Ministers of the Republic of Uzbekistan on the further development of small business and private entrepreneurship, agricultural movement and the improvement of the system of targeted social assistance of the state.

Dear Sir or Madam, the weight of the successes achieved in our Uzbekistan is enormous. In the words of our President, it serves the happy life of every person. There are many factors that are a prerequisite and guarantee for a successful life. But among them there is one factor that gives meaning to our life, makes it brighter and more pleasant, and if it is present, it is obviously invisible when a person makes his homeland, his country beautiful and prosperous in every way and lives contentedly. We see the establishment of new businesses, the construction of highways and railways, bridges, avenues, recreation centers, hospitals, colleges and schools, all of which serve the welfare of our people and their interests. Indeed, where life is prosperous, markets are full, and human dignity is exalted, holidays are appropriate for such a country and the bonds of affection between nations are strengthened.

In conclusion, based on the above opinion, we consider it appropriate to implement the following measures to improve the well-being of the population in the process of democratic reforms in Uzbekistan:

- Strengthening the prosecutor's control over compliance with current legislation ensuring human rights and freedoms;
- Development of measures to ensure the implementation by local authorities of legislation ensuring labor rights and employment of the population
- to further strengthen the civic responsibility of members of our society by contributing to the implementation of fundamental changes aimed at ensuring a dignified and prosperous life in our country;
- Convince the citizens of Uzbekistan of the correctness of the path chosen by our people regarding the deep reform and modernization of our country and prepare them to personally participate in this positive process;
- to ensure that higher indicators can be achieved through the social, cultural and spiritual development of our state and society;

- to form a feeling of mobilizing all energy for the prosperity and development of our country;
- to inculcate in the minds of our citizens not to be afraid of hardships for the sake of the people's well-being in the process of democratic renewal.
