Annotation: Uzbekistan has its own system of public services went through a series of development processes with its independence. In these processes, the public service system showed its ways of integration, modernization and development. In the Republic of Uzbekistan, the system of public services was formed on the basis of its structure, organization, functionality and goals

Ensuring the high quality of public services is often related to the demands and needs of our people and people. The "Society, Politics. Law" program developed by the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, Shavkat Mirziyoyev, was implemented.

Key words: People, Public services, Independence, Development, Modernization, Integration, History.

On the initiative of the Ministry of Public Education of the Republic of Uzbekistan, the publishing house "Spirituality and Culture" published a teaching- methodical guide entitled "Variability of state services, ways of their modernization and integration" in the 7th edition of 2018. In this publication, a better explanation of the system of public services of the Republic of Uzbekistan, its problems of modernization, innovation and integration were shown.

"Society. Politics. Law" supported by the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev in 2018. with modern indicators of public administration. It is appropriate to modernize the state services system, the services are considered to meet the needs of our people and property and financial indicators at a high level. The modernization of the public service system has again increased its workforce. Documents in this system are being digitized and improved. In particular, the State Services Agency of the Republic of Uzbekistan has distributed a system of e-documents. The services provided here are that the necessary documents are received online, and weather monitoring activities are also done online. The modernization and integration of public services in the Republic of Uzbekistan was explained in the educational and methodological manual entitled "Flexibility of public services, ways of their modernization and integration", which includes a list of daily actions of their system. Also, the history of public services in Uzbekistan, the fine arts that shape culture, and the centuries-old changes in medicine are informed by the service of highly experienced staff. Accordingly, important ways of reproduction, integration and modernization of modern state services and their valuable and human experience at the world level are also important in the development of cooperation between nations and states.

The public service system is the creation of a system in external and internal political, economic, cultural and scientific directions, which is necessary for all people who have formed and developed it. The history of the civil service system of the Republic of Uzbekistan, during the 32 years of independence of Uzbekistan, there were changes and improvements in order to develop, modernize and integrate its civil service system. In the Republic of Uzbekistan, the problem of integration of the public service system is also very important. A number of countries where human life is valuable and have high overall human dignity have also raised the bar for integration. In relation to the ways of integration of the public services of the Republic of Uzbekistan, there are usually many carrier factors, such as increasing the capacity, developing trade, and increasing indicators aimed at export.

The system of service to our society and the further development of this system, while the owners of these ways and sects are increasing, the harmony of human consciousness is constantly focused on providing spiritual needs. Further development of human property-financial, cultural and political- material indicators, ensuring the health and safety of people's lives, the history of work, methodology and methodology of additional relations with cooperation centers, improvement of conditions, more convenient service for our people to show, accordingly, allowed cooperation to increase.

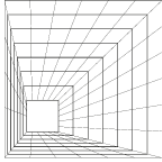

On April 18, 1997, the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, Islam Karimov, signed a decision on the coordination of "Capacity of the State Management System and Management Mechanisms" after the change in public services was not seen. With this decision, the state management system was further developed and its flexibility improved. This development process came to the President Shavkat Mirziyoyev in December 2016, under the supervision of the authority and legal relations of the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan, a Concept was drawn up on the topic "Actual ways and methods of further development of the improvement of state our VILGS.

Articles, instructional manuals and studies describe the problems of further diversification, integration and modernization of the public services of the Republic of Uzbekistan, and there are comments on the order of solutions. At the same time, manuals and resources in Uzbek, for example, under the name "Standards for improving the system of state authorities are educational and methodological resources for our people to review and learn. the practice of creating the history and development of services is covered.

The system of public services was also established according to the changes of the century. Since 2019, the government authorities of the Republic of Uzbekistan have increased their attention to education, and the State Services Agency of the Republic of Uzbekistan, which organizes the state services of Uzbekistan, has been established in order to train personnel with a movement profile. Through this agency, he achieved the goal of further development and modernization of public services, provision of convenience to Uzbeks through new inspection systems and unified portals, transition to interactive technologies and automation methods. In this way, the history of the public service organization of the Republic of Uzbekistan summarizes changes and developments. He expresses his opinion that the state of the public service system in Uzbekistan is constantly being updated and is trying to respond to the demands and questions of our people
